Final Four in Beautiful Horses of Wisconsin Series

The final four paintings of the Beautiful Horses of Wisconsin series are done! Pictured above are Littletree Bodini, An Incredible Design, Diggin The North and Buzz Bomber.

Littletree Bodini is a Fell Pony, a breed native to England. His owner, Melissa, explained that the breed is extremely rare in the US. Bodini is an accomplished stallion winning championships in the UK and USA. He has sired 25 registered Fell Pony foals.

If you are a leopard appaloosa fan, you'll recognize that An Incredible Design is a super example with a masked look to his facial markings. His owner Starla had a pasture full of adorable appy foals—and one would have liked to come home with us and we would have liked that to if only he fit in back of our little SUV.

Diggin The North is a new breed of trail horse—Singlefooter—with a super smooth and super fast gait. Karri, Diggin's owner, is working to get the breed recognized in Wisconsin as the new "Ultimate Trail Horse" based on gait rather than breeding.

Buzz Bomber's owner is right when she says he is one of the prettiest Appaloosas ever! Look at the gorgeous blanket and tail—and the front half of Buzz Bomber is beautiful too! Thank you Becky for letting us visit and include Buzz in the Beautiful Horses of Wisconsin.
